Section I - Reading: There are eight (8,0) marks for this section.

Read the text carefully and answer the questions below.

Child abuse is every violation of children's rights. These violations include beating, humiliating, not allowing children to go to school, not feeding, not giving medical assistance, abandoning children, trafficking and employing children in labour activities.

Many parents abuse their children. Some teachers abuse their students, some without realizing that they're abusing them while others do it deliberately.

How do you know that a parent or a teacher is abusing a child?

You don't need to be an expert to find out that a child is being abused. Here are basic signs you should know about child abuse.

Physical signs: Physical signs of child abuse are very easy to notice. The child shows bruises, red eyes and scars. When you see a child with these signs, you should talk to the child and contact neighbours to find out about this child. Because you are not trained, report to specialists.

Emotional signs: The child is extremely shy, doesn't feel happy, is nervous and aggressive. The child suspects of everybody.

Sexual signs: The child has sexual behaviours which are not natural in children of her/his age.

Who are the common child abusers? Stepmothers/fathers, guardians, drunkard parents, neighbours.

What should you do when you notice these signs?

Report to the local authorities and to the police. There are people trained to deal with these cases. Please report any situations where you suspect a child is being harmed. Remember that your child might be a victim one day.
